GRAND KNIGHTS REPORT

Joe Wenderoth, 410-592-9718, joew03@hughes.net

Brothers.

As I begin my term as a new Grand Knight, I look forward to the challenges, opportunities and rewards that my term as Grand Knight will offer. I head to Grand Knight College on July 8th to drink from the fire hose of information that the State team will turn on that weekend. There is a lot to learn and PGK Tom Zaegel set a high bar for GK achievement during his two years. I appreciate all the coaching and guidance he has provided in the transition. He has started LGVC on a transformation process that has resulted in a more robust, capable and active Council. Since Tom graciously agreed to be Program Director as well as Trustee this year, we will have a strong start in all our Activities as well as his good advice. The rest of the leadership team is much the same in many respects, so they are experienced as well as capable. There are still a few holes to fill for next year so please consider taking on a role or helping one of these leaders.

Since this is my first GK Report I will make it a State of the Council message. The State of the Council is strong and my aim is to make it even stronger. My vision for these incremental improvements has three main focus points.

One focus will be Membership. We'll take a continuing perspective (i.e maturing both new and existing members through degrees and avoiding Retention issues). I have discussed this focus with new Membership Director PSD, PGK Dick Siejack who is enthusiastically rejoining routine Council activities after a long and successful tour of duty at the State level. Dick and I plan to systematically communicate with everyone on the roster and reacquaint ourselves with members in one-on-one or small group sessions. The goal is to continue reinvigorating the Council from within and without. We will go through a checklist with each member so that we understand all their concerns, interests and issues. This focus is not so much on Council growth in numbers but in activities, and practice of the charity, fraternity and unity principles of the Order. Of course we are always on the lookout for a "few good men" to swell the ranks. We will zero in on prospective candidates who are already making a difference in the community and welcome them to join our family oriented Council.

Another Focus will be to continue improvements to the Council Home facility, especially with regard to presentation capabilities and hosting of various types of gatherings. Much of the new infrastructure is already in place and the emphasis will be on infusing these capabilities into programs to make them more attractive. The end goal is to have the Council perform more and better Council Activities in our own back yard. Typically, when an organization wanders farther from their community base it tends to dilute their efforts. Therefore we will emphasize activities close to home.

A third focus will be on improving communications. We have communicated well in the past but new and improved communications methods are available now. In fact significant new technologies have been introduced, such as social networking, that have sparked revolutions. It is not clear what is best for us yet, but we'll figure out what works and what doesn't so we can keep everyone posted on a timely basis. The new LGVC Weekly all hands email is an example. We have been able to update everyone (with email) on a weekly basis and to let them know when there is breaking information posted at our web site.

Don't misunderstand these comments to infer dissatisfaction with LGVC! After attending various District and State functions over the years and even dropping in at other Council meetings out of state, I know that we have a truly excellent Council at Long Green Valley. The wide range and quality of our activities, the Council Home facility, and the member talents that are so freely shared are all extraordinary. At the same time we know that we are also capable of so much more and it is exciting to contemplate the possibilities. While that may indicate the possibilities of many awards at the Convention, I think it is far more important to continue to build a great Council and conduct great programs whether or not others recognize us as award winners.

I look forward to working with The Knights Ladies and their new President, Cassie Wenderoth. They make us a better council and stronger Knights. Remember, above all is charity, a selfless commitment inspired by our faith and extended to our community. I close with an altered phrase borrowed from another new administration in 1960. "Ask not what your Council can do for you, but what can you do for your Council."

Joe Wenderoth, Grand Knight

CHAPLAIN'S CORNER

Dear Brother Knights,

During July we Americans celebrate our collective birthday amidst cookouts, ball games and fireworks. Thomas Jefferson wrote into the Declaration of Independence our right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. On Independence Day, we thank God for the privilege of living in this great country. We can do all the patriotic duties of flying the flag and wave the banners, but the real celebration of our liberty is our determination to share it with others. That is a Christian and Columbian way to celebrate! Take a moment on the Fourth of July to thank God for all that we Americans have and pray that we do not lose sight of those gifts.

SUPREME COUNCIL NEWS
In Service to One, in Service to All

Why John Paul II Was Beatified

During the days leading up to the beatification of Blessed John Paul II, I was frequently asked by journalists whether I thought the Vatican was rushing John Paul II's path to sainthood. My answer was simple: "If the Lord had not wanted John Paul II beatified now, he would not have granted the miracle that was attributed to his intercession."

The so-called "waiting period," which was shortened in the case of Pope John Paul II, is one way to help ensure that procedures are followed and requirements are met. The important test is that the pope and the Congregation for the Causes of Saints are satisfied that all the standards have been fulfilled.

As Pope Benedict XVI observed in his homily during the beatification Mass May 1, he wanted the cause of beatification "to move forward with reasonable haste" because "of the ways God's people showed their veneration" for John Paul II and "because this is what was pleasing to the Lord."

The world saw the extraordinary witness and heroic Christian virtue that marked the nearly 27 years of John Paul II's papacy. We might say that the world pronounced its judgment on him during his funeral Mass when hundreds of thousands of people chanted, "Santo Subito!" ("Sainthood now!").

To be sure, the beatification of John Paul II is not a scorecard on his papacy. Rather, it is a judgment on his living the Christian life. But the beatification does tell us something very important about the papacy of his successor, Pope Benedict XVI, and about the papacy in general.

Many may remember the common wisdom among journalists that was expressed during the conclave held after the death of John Paul II. Some thought the pendulum had swung too far in one direction and that the new pope needed to be a "corrective," to return the Church to some unspecified "middle ground."

While the image of a swinging pendulum may be appropriate in a secular political context, where public attitudes shift back and forth between the political left and right, it is not adequate to understand a Church guided by the Holy Spirit along the sure path of salvation history.

A shining example of this reality was the election of Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger to succeed Pope John Paul II. Pope Benedict XVI's episcopal motto — "Cooperators veritatis" ("Co-workers of the truth") — provides a key to our understanding. If we recognize the fundamental responsibility of a bishop to be a teacher, that is, to be a cooperator with the truth, then the pope is an unparalleled example of this teaching office.

As Pope Benedict observed in his homily, during his 23 years of service as prefect of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, he was one of John Paul II's closest co-workers. In that capacity, he came "to revere him all the more." Benedict also referred to the "witness of faith, love and apostolic courage" of Blessed John Paul II, whom he said exemplified "a personal and communitarian existence directed to Christ."

In the closing words of his homily, Pope Benedict gave the clearest reason for the beatification of John Paul II: "He lived out in an extraordinary way the vocation of every priest and bishop to become completely one with Jesus."

For more than three decades, the Knights of Columbus has been privileged to be "co-workers" with these two great popes and has supported many projects essential to their ministry. But our greatest privilege has been to experience their "witness of faith, love and apostolic courage" and in our own way to be their co-workers in this sense. May the prayers of Blessed John Paul II sustain us in this work.

PROGRAM DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Tom Zaegel PGK, 410-557-4465, tomzaegel1@comcast.net

As we begin the new Fraternal Year, I am pleased to take the reins of Director of Programs from Brother Mike Sallèse. We thank Mike for his leadership, guidance and support for the Program Leaders and all council activities for the past two years. I know Mike will continue to stay active in the council, even as he pursues higher goals in the Order.

At this point we are still trying to fill the Program Leader positions for Pro Life, Family and Youth. I hope that if you are asked by our Grand Knight, Joe Wenderoth, to support our council in one of these positions, you will accept. I can assure you that I and all the other officers will help you where needed.

Pat Donohue (Church Activities), Paul Weber (Council Activities), Dick Siejack (Membership Director), and I met with our new Grand Knight recently to plan for the coming Fraternal Year, and prepare the calendar to help us and the entire membership stay on top of activities. In addition, Joe has launched a new initiative to send out weekly emails reminding us of activities and actions for the coming week. As you can detect, we have a goal to continue to increase the awareness, visibility, and communications throughout the council. We hope this will help to stimulate more support, initiative and volunteering throughout the membership.

At this point there are no Pro Life or Youth activities planned for the months of July and August. We have launched the Scavenger Hunt as our newest Family activity. John Canoles has done a terrific job of creating and marketing this summer activity, and we sincerely hope that the children and grand children throughout our council family will participate. Details are contained elsewhere in this newsletter and on our council web site.

Ray Dietz, Director, 410 592 5377, craytrek@comcast.net

I would like to say a very BIG THANK-YOU to all those Knights who assisted in operating our highly successful Spring Blood Drive. We collected 63 units and this will provide precious life saving assistance to many members of our community.

Mark your calendar that our next Blood Drive is Saturday, November 19th (Saturday prior to Thanksgiving). We look forward to seeing the donors and helpers again.

COUNCIL ACTIVITIES DIRECTOR

Paul Weber, PGK, 410-879-0558, apaulweber@msn.com

It is a pleasure to once again serve as Council Activities Director and I thank GK Joe Wenderoth for the opportunity. We have a full schedule of events planned for this fraternal year which I hope you find to be interesting and exciting. Some activities will be new and others you will recognize as favorites from the past.

After an absence of more than 10 years we are re-introducing the popular "STEAK OUT" on Saturday, July 16 immediately following the 5 pm Mass at St. John's. The menu will feature a NY strip steak, baked potato, salad, dessert, beer, wine and soda. The cost is $17.50 a person (WHAT A DEAL). Your reservation and money must be received by July 12. No walk-ins will be accepted that night. Checks are payable to KC #8736 and mailed to Paul Weber, 2223 Larchmont Drive, Fallston, MD 21047. If you have any questions, call me at 410-879-0558 or email apaulweber@msn.com

A few tickets remain for the council's KNIGHT AT THE IRONBIRDS on August 1. We have reserved seating on the party deck and a buffet starting at 6:30 pm. Tickets are $30 each. For additional information, contact Tom Rowan at 443-299-6143.

Plan to attend the Ice Cream Social on Tuesday, July 5th at 6:30 PM. It is a Birthday Party for the USA (235 Years) and LGVC (27 Years). We'll have homemade Ice Cream from Prigel Creamery in Hydes, a Birthday Cake and a fireworks show on the big screen. We'll finish in 1 1/2 hours so you can be out by 8:00. Bring your family and friends. It is $3 per person at the door, if you send an email to -EMAIL- by July 4th with member name and number in your party. It is $4 at the door if you don't send an email.

Long Green Valley Council's installation of officers will take place on Sunday, August 14 following the 11:15 am Mass. A luncheon will be served in the church hall following the installation ceremony. All members and their wives are invited to attend. Reservations are required for lunch. Details are included in this newsletter and on the council's website.

FAMILY ACTIVITIES

Anniversaries

Long Green Valley Council has been celebrating your birthdays every month since the beginning of our newsletter. We now want to begin honoring your anniversaries as well. Please contact Mike Sallèse or Tom Zaegel with your anniversary date and year. Our website guru Bob Elliott has even set up a form on our website for you to input the info easily. We have plenty of room for your anniversary. We will add it to our birthday list and let the whole world or at least your council brothers wish you a Happy Anniversary. Your input is needed.

PRO-LIFE DIRECTOR

REFLECTIONS

Lawrence P. Grayson

The Deluding of the American Mind Americans, indeed people in most Western nations, are deadly indifferent to the truths of the lives they are leading. They have warped their thinking and numbed their minds. They justify behaviors that not too many decades ago were socially intolerable. Pornography, promiscuity, cohabitation, abortion, same-sex marriage, gender changing, genetic manipulation, and euthanasia, among other pernicious practices, are justified and accepted in society. We kill millions of children in the womb and call it a woman's choice. We destroy embryos in the laboratory and call it medical research. We tolerate pornography and licentiousness and call it freedom of expression. We assist in the suicide of the elderly and terminate those in comas and call it death with dignity. The result is moral anarchy. Hedonism and self-absorbed narcissism reign. There is a breakdown in the family, a coarsening of the culture, and a dissipation of the moral underpinnings that are essential to the functioning of a democracy.

Our consciences are salved by changing the definition of terms or substituting new words for the familiar and well-defined. We have convoluted our language. A child in the uterus is termed a fetus, just uterine material growing like a tumor inside of a woman's body. The decision to excise the unwanted flesh is a woman's right because there is a denial of the humanity of the pre-born child. Persons opposed to embryonic stem-cell research are considered to be impeding significant advances in health care.

We dull our minds and deny the reality of what is being done when we describe the tearing apart of an unborn child as a "dilation and evacuation" procedure, or to the skullcrushing in a partial-birth abortion as "intrauterine cranial decompression." The terms we use have consequences. We ignore the most obvious facts in our desire not to know, exercising a willful ignorance that certain actions denigrate our human dignity.

With a Frankenstein-like outlook, we destroy what we do not want and strive to create man in our own image. We are learning to decipher the human genome, to conduct genetic manipulation, to create life in a Petri dish. While there is enormous potential for good in these scientific discoveries, they can be used to dehumanize man, to treat him as a product of his own intellect and abilities. Science pursued for the good of humanity requires a morality and set of ethical standards that recognize that man is a gift of God.

But a culture, motivated by materialism and an over-whelming desire for self-satisfaction is indifferent to the spiritual. The callous disregard for life, the subversion of language, and the rationalization of untoward behaviors are altering man's relationship to God and to himself. The central focus of life is no longer a belief in a Creator God to whom we are guided by an adherence to His commandments, but man and his unbridled desires.

As St. Paul said in his epistle to the Romans, “although they knew God they did not accord him glory as God or give him thanks. Instead, they became vain in their reasoning, and their senseless minds were darkened. While claiming to be wise, they became fools and exchanged the glory of the immortal God for the likeness of an image of mortal man.” With this societal mindset, the Romans created a culture of moral degeneracy in which they not only engaged in perverse acts, but approved of others who did so. It was a culture deserving of death. Is our culture not on a similar path? Is it no less susceptible to destruction?

Reverence for human life and its protection at all stages is the key societal issue of the day. The Knights of Columbus can be a potent force in the public arena to raise the public conscience, reverse the trends in our society, and once again establish a reverence for life. The Knights in Maryland, 27,000 men and their families, are positioned to be the vanguard of this effort.

Many states are passing laws to restrict abortion, with the result that abortionists are leaving those areas to seek more hospitable venues. Maryland, with the most lenient of statutes regulating feticide, is drawing these practitioners, especially those who specialize in late-term abortions. The bad news is that they are coming to our state. The good news is that if we can force them out of business in Maryland there will be few places they can go. Stopping abortion will require a variety of legal, economic and social action, but it can be done. If we are to succeed, however, prayer is needed to bolster our actions. The struggle to establish a culture of life is a spiritual battle being waged in a secular world. It cannot be won on a solely material level. That is why programs, such as we have in Maryland, like the Silver Rose, the monthly pro-life Masses, enlisting the home bound to be prayer warriors for life, and the frequent and widespread recitation of the rosary are integral to our efforts to improve the moral culture of the state. Will your council be among the leaders for pro-life? Will you?

LECTURER'S REPORT

Chuck Bogdanowicz, PGK, 410-592-5913, chuckbog@msn.com

As we start a new fraternal year, I want to thank outgoing Grand Knight Tom Zaegel for trusting in me to serve as your Lecturer. I also want to thank incoming Grand Knight, Joe Wenderoth for appointing me as Lecturer for his term. I hope I can reach your expectations.

As always, I am interested in any programs or speakers you might want to have and welcome any suggestions. Please feel free to contact me if you have any contacts or leads or have a “Good story” I can use. As many of you know, my material could use some improvement.

Paul Oliphant
Msgr. Jack Callopy

Relations:

Tory Robinson, Wife of Brother John Robinson
Nancy Pfister, Mother of Brother Ed Pfister

Others:

NOTE: We have no system of routinely identifying those people whose health has improved to the point that they no longer need to be on the prayer list. Consequently, at the end of each quarter, we will delete all names that have been on the list for three or more months. Anyone with a request should contact the Chancellor, Bob McGraw, at either of the above addresses and they will be listed/reinstated on the prayer list.

MEMBERSHIP DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Dick Siejack, IPSD, 410-557-9298, rvsiejack@aol.com

Congratulations to all the newly elected officers for this fraternal year. As Council Membership Director, I am truly honored and pledge my very best to assist our Worthy Grand Knight, Joe Wenderoth and the Council to exceed its Membership/Retention and Fraternal benefits quotas. We have set our goal of attaining the most prestigious "Star Council Award" by attracting "Active Catholic Men" to join our Council and help with our many "Surge for Service Programs."

How can you help? First and foremost, we all are part of the Membership Team and I ask you to always carry a form#100 application and secondly be prepared to ask a Catholic man and his Family to join our Council. We have so much to offer! If you know of a prospect, why not give me a call or mention his name to our Worthy Grand Knight.

In closing, special congratulations to our newest Brother Knight, Jimmy Greene who took his First Degree on June 20th at Fr. Wolfe Council. We welcome him and wish him and his family well as he continues his advancement and journey into Knighthood.

"May the good Lord continue to touch your heart with love and mercy."
